THE VALUE OF AN OATH.

Why should an oath be considered less sacred than it comes with politics than the other affairs of life? Can it be possible that fidelity to party or the advancement of a man's political interests will justify him in treating lightly an oath which he has taken to honestly and faithfully discharge the duties of an officer and citizen? Are political leaders to be upheld in the Jesuitical idea that the end justifies the means, the end being the success of their party, no matter how obtained? This seems to be the idea of the modern Democracy in Virginia, if we are to judge it by the way that Democratic election officers in this State violate the oath which they take before acting at any election.

Section 118 of the General Election Laws of Virginia provides, that before any judge of election enters upon the performance of any of the duties imposed upon him by law, he shall take an oath in the following form—to-wit: "I, A. B., judge of the election, do solemnly swear that I will perform the duties of judge of election according to law and the best of my ability; and that I will studiously endeavor to prevent fraud, deceit, and abuse in conducting this election."

How has this solemn oath been kept? Let the answer be made by the leading Democratic newspapers of the State, who last Spring used as their chief argument for making a new Constitution the necessity for stopping the election frauds that were becoming so wide-spread, so common in Virginia. Democrats no longer deny these frauds, but try to make excuse for them by talking of negro supremacy. There is not a negro vote in Dickenson county, nor one in Buchanan county, and yet Democratic judges of election cheated, violated their oaths in these two counties two years ago for Rhea. We have also been informed that a Democratic judge of election at a precinct in Russell county recently stated that they had stolen votes at his precinct for Rhea two years ago, and were going to steal votes for him at the coming election.

We do not pretend to say that all the Democratic judges of election in Virginia are dishonest or that a majority of them violate their oaths; but we do say that a great number of them are, and do, and that the Machine protects them. It is also evident that these men are selected because of their lack of integrity and for the very purpose of cheating. The law under which they are appointed and act was made for fraudulent purposes; and, instead of encouraging them to keep their solemn oath, directs them by its numerous opportunities and suggestions, to studiously endeavor to stimulate fraud, deceit and abuse in conducting elections.

The Democratic Machine has been a zealous and capable teacher of fraud, and it has found enough apt pupils to manipulate the ballot boxes in every district in the State successfully. There will be a day of reckoning for the scoundrels who violate the sacred oath of election officers, as well as for the leaders who encourage and uphold them. The average Democratic voter who is honest in all his business affairs and claims to be an upright citizen and knows of the disreputable manner in which elections are conducted by his party, yet declines to raise his voice against the crimes, becomes a silent partner in the transactions and will some time have to answer for it. For fear of injuring his party he stifles his conscience and condones crime. We all know that the Democracy in Virginia has for a long time ceased to regard fraud in elections as a crime, and treats the violation of an oath by an election officer as a trivial matter. You men in the Democratic party who have claims to be considered honest in your politics, place your hands on your hearts and answer truly: "Is this not so?"

If we stop to consider what the leaders of the Democracy in Virginia are doing, perhaps, we will not be astonished at the readiness with which the small men in the party consent to commit frauds upon the ballot box. The leaders and Democratic newspapers have been encouraging the masses to violate the highest law of the land—the Federal Constitution. Every man who holds or has held an office in Virginia—State or Federal—has taken an oath, which in substance says: "I solemnly swear that I will support the Constitution and laws of the United States, etc. So help me God." Every man who has been a member of the Legislature, or who has held a State or County office, every man who has held or holds an office under the United States Government from Senator down to postmaster, has taken this oath. But we find Senators, Congressmen, Legislators, Judges, in fact all the Democrats who hold or have held office under the State or Federal Government advocating a measure which will directly violate the Constitution of the United States, which they have sworn to support by taking the oath above referred to. They are advocating a suffrage law that will disfranchise a large class of citizens, which most of them admit is in violation of the Fifteenth Amendment of the Constitution.

When we find the most prominent men disregarding their oath to support the Constitution of the United States, it is no wonder that lesser lights in the party are willing and anxious to violate their obligation as election officers? With this condition existing among the leaders and the rank and file of the Virginia Democracy, is it strange that the whole moral tone of the party is in a state of decay? We may well ask the Democracy of Virginia, What is the value of an oath?

HOW TO MEET IT.

If we are to judge by recent declarations and indications, the conspirators and plotters who outraged free suffrage in this district two years ago are preparing to do the same this year, under the leadership of W. F. Rhea. They are now, as they were then, in complete control of the election machinery of the district, and are backed by those who are in absolute control of the election machinery of the State. So, we may expect them to not only repeat what they did in 1898, but, encouraged by the safe-guards furnished them by the ample provisions of the Walton law, they will commit every fraud they believe the people will submit to.

In most of the States, in all those of the North, East and West, the courts are invested with authority to punish those who commit frauds on the ballot box. But in this State the courts have either lacked authority or disposition to bring any of the ballot thieves and ballot-box stuffers to the bar of judgment. The only man who has been tried for an offense of that kind, was a judge who stuffed the ballot-box full at Smith's precinct, in Henrico county, whose guilt was thoroughly established, and upon whom a trivial sentence was inflicted, of a few minutes in jail and a fine of a few dollars. The culprit was at the next session of the Virginia Legislature made a subordinate officer of the State Senate, which position he has held at each succeeding session of the Legislature. The ballot thief was rewarded by a Democratic Legislature for his crime and the honor perpetuated to him.

When it was announced in 1898 that great frauds had been committed in this district, and General Walker tried, through the courts, to unearth some of them, even the Supreme Court of Appeals held, upon his application for a mandamus, that though the registration books were public records General Walker had no right to have copies made of those books. The law has been so fixed that the courts can do but little, even if they wish to do it, to protect the citizens in the exercise of suffrage.

The Republicans of this district see these facts staring them in the face. They recall the number of frauds committed by Rhea's tools, and also the fact that the Republican candidate, when contesting for our rights, was shot by an assassin, that the assassin was acquitted of all blame by a partisan jury fixed for the purpose; and was afterwards rewarded for his act by being appointed private secretary of W. F. Rhea—who holds a seat in Congress by fraud.

Is there no remedy left the people? Must they be compelled to submit to the outrages of political freebooters and ballot thieves? It seems that there can be no satisfactory appeals to the State courts; and the honest men in the Democratic party are too indifferent or timid to lift their voices against the machine. There seems to be no remedy left the Republicans of the Ninth Congressional District, and that is to let the unscrupulous ballot manipulators understand the limit has been reached; and that the sacred rights of the citizens shall be no longer trifled with. Let the dishonest election officers understand that if Republicans can find no legal remedy for the outrages of the past, they will assert their manhood, and see that Republicans have not only the right to vote but to have their votes honestly counted. Let the ballot thief know that he will not be permitted to trample upon the most sacred right that belongs to American freemen. Republicans of the Ninth District, be careful, be vigilant, but be brave!

THE South will give its electoral vote to the fakir, Bryan. The North and West will elect that great patriot and statesman, William McKinley.

WHAT WILL YOU DO?

On next Tuesday the voters of the United States will be called upon to decide between two candidates for the position of Chief-Executive of the Nation. The voters will also have to decide what shall be the policy of the National Government for the four years after March 4th, 1901. The people ought to cast their ballots according to their honest convictions, and for that candidate and party whose policy they believe will bring the greatest good to the greatest number. In determining that question the individual voter should carefully consider the records of the men who are the candidates and of the parties that stand behind the respective candidates.

Taking it for granted that every one who reads this article desires to act from honest conviction and mainly principle, we ask you how will you cast your vote on the 6th of November? Do you honestly believe it will be best to change the present policy of our Government? Do you think that Mr. Bryan has proven himself a safe thinker and sound expositor of governmental principles? Has his prophetic vision been sufficiently vindicated by the conditions that have followed his defeat for the Presidency to retain for him the confidence of those who believed in him in 1896? Mr. Bryan in 1896 made the bold prediction: "If McKinley and the Republican party are successful and put in power the next four years, wages will be decreased, hard times will come upon us, and over the land the price of wheat will go down and the price of gold will go up; mortgages on our homes will be foreclosed by the money lenders; shops and factories will close. We will export no goods, and will import from foreign lands all the goods we use; thus will ruin, want and misery be with us."

Intelligent voters, put your hands on your hearts and answer us truly, how have these prophecies been verified?

The very reverse has come. Wages have been increased in all departments of labor; wheat and grains of all kinds have advanced in price; the price of gold has not gone up; mortgages amounting to many hundreds of millions of dollars have been paid off our homes; thousands of shops, factories, furnaces that were idle are now open; three millions of men who were tramping through the land in 1896 begging for work are now constantly and profitably employed; we exported last year nearly four hundred millions of dollars more of manufactured goods than we imported from foreign countries, and we sold to foreign countries six hundred million of dollars more than we bought of them; we are more prosperous and happy as a people than we have ever been; and these conditions, coming after McKinley and the Republican party were put in power, show that Mr. Bryan was truly a false prophet.

Do you think it will be wise to listen to the false prophet, and change the whole policy of our Government? After the bitter experience of the four years preceding the McKinley Administration does your judgment tell you it is best to turn down that which has proven to be true and experiment with the untrue?

You will have a chance next Tuesday to say which you prefer, the tried and good or the untrue and uncertain. Which will you stand by? What will you do?

TO BE DISFRANCHISED.

The Democratic papers and leaders are now trying to dispute the fact that it is the purpose of their party to disfranchise the uneducated men of the country by the new Constitution that is to be adopted. They assert now that only negroes are to be disfranchised. That position was taken after the Democrats became alarmed about the vote of the poor, uneducated white men of the State.

We believe now, as we have believed all along, that it is the white vote that is disturbing the Democratic machine. It has had no trouble in controlling the negro vote in the black districts, but has been startled by the constant movement of the white workingmen to the Republican party. These are the men whose votes the Democracy want to get rid of.

Now and then a Democratic paper tells the truth about the purpose of the party. The Rural Retreat Times, a warm supporter of W. F. Rhea for Congress, in its issue of Oct. 5th, 1900, said:

"The Constitutional Convention which comes next Fall is not a matter of National, but State politics. The convention will come whether McKinley or Bryan is elected. The Constitutional Convention will not disfranchise anyone who has the right to vote. It will exclude the illiterate whites and blacks, who know nothing, from undertaking the running of such a complex machine as a State Government. McKinley and Hanna cut no ice in the Virginia State Convention."

The italics in the above are ours, but the language is that of the Rural Retreat Times. Thus does one of Rhea's most ardent supporters declare that it is the fixed intention of the Virginia Democracy to disfranchise the uneducated white men as well as the negroes.

Six Frightful Failures.

Six frightful failures of six different doctors nearly sent Wm. H. Mullen of Lockland, O., to an early grave. All said he had a fatal lung trouble and he must soon die. But he was urged to try Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption. After taking five bottles he was entirely cured. It is positively guaranteed to cure all diseases of Throat, Chest and Lungs, including Coughs, Colds, La Grippe, Pneumonia, Whooping Cough, Hay Fever, Croup, Bronchitis, etc. 50c and $1.00. Trial bottles free at Jno. E. Jackson's drug store.

STAND BY WALKER.

No people ever had a candidate who more deserved the united support of his party than have the Republicans of the Ninth Congressional District, in the person of General Walker. Since he espoused the cause of Republicanism he has been steadfast and untiring in his devotion to its interests. When he took our flag it had been for some time trailing in the dust in our district, but he carried it to victory in three successive fights, though cheated out of the last victory by the unscrupulous tools of W. F. Rhea.

With stern resolve to protect his party from Rhea and his followers, he undertook a contest for the seat in Congress which nearly lost him his life.

General Walker stands for the policy that all the Republicans of the Ninth District endorse, and for the principles that have brought so much prosperity to our section. The party is more thoroughly united under his leadership than it has ever been before. He deserves and will receive the cordial support of all true Republicans.

OUR CANDIDATE.

The New York Mail and Express of the 20th ult., referred editorially to the campaign that is now going on in this district. It speaks highly of our candidate for Congress and of the gallant fight the Republicans of this district are making against the Rhea Democracy. The Mail and Express said:

"One of the most interesting contests in the congressional campaign is in progress in the Ninth District of Virginia, where there is a growing likelihood of the election of Gen. James A. Walker, the Republican nominee. Gen. Walker is a Virginian of Virginians, with a distinguished record as a soldier in the Confederate army and an exalted reputation as a citizen and a gentleman. He served with credit in the Fifty-fourth and Fifty-fifth Congresses and was elected to the Fifty-sixth, but was counted out by his Democratic opponents. This year he is again a candidate, backed by a united party fully determined to right the wrong which he suffered two years ago, and unless the signs are misleading his success is assured. He is a progressive and uncompromising Republican, he represents the best interests of Virginia and his election would be a positive gain for the cause of honest money and good government."

HOW TO PREPARE A BALLOT.

At the approaching Presidential election there will be more than a half dozen electoral tickets printed on the official ballot. Voters will do well to remember that they are not required to scratch the names of the electors, but the names of the candidates for President and Vice-President. Section 5 of the Virginia election law says: "And the qualified voters at said election shall designate their preference for any candidates for President and Vice-President by scratching the names of the said candidates for President and Vice-President."

So, if you want to vote for McKinley and Roosevelt, let their names remain, but scratch off all the names of the other candidates for President and Vice-President.

If you want to vote for General Walker, let his name remain, but be certain to scratch off Rhea's name and the names of any other candidates for Congress that may, possibly, be on the ballot.

It will be remembered that Rhea got two negro men to have their names put on the ballot two years ago. They ran as assistants to Rhea.

MCKINLEY, ROOSEVELT, WALKER, VICTORY!

The way to keep good times is to vote for good times.

Work for Walker; vote for Walker; and see that your vote is counted for Walker.

Republicans of the Ninth District maintain your rights, at any sacrifice that may be necessary.

BRYANISM and RHEISM, the latter the meanest of the two, should be given a death blow in this district.

Will you vote at this election with the party that intends to take away your right to vote before another election?

Are you tired of working? If so vote for Bryan. If he is elected you will have plenty of rest, as you did under the last Democratic administration.

LOOK OUT FOR THE BALLOT THIEF. He did his work in the Ninth District two years ago, and he will try to do it again. If you catch him stealing, your manhood and good sense will tell you how he should be treated.

SOME of the Democratic papers in Virginia are now beginning to urge that we have in this State a poll-tax qualification for voting. They believe that in that way the poor, illiterate men can be driven from the ballot-box.

If Bryan is defeated next Tuesday, and we have every reason to believe he will, he will become more unpopular at the South than Cleveland has ever been. The Southern Democracy only remains faithful in its devotion to a leader that leads to victory.

THE man who steals a vote would steal a man's purse. He is a thief. Mr. Bryan says that to coerce a man into voting against his sentiments is robbing him of his citizenship. Does not the fellow who misleads an uneducated man's ballot rob him of his citizenship?

Remember the Democratic promises of 1892 and the Democratic prophecies of 1896.

GENERAL PROSPERITY is now a candidate before the people. Will you vote for him, or will you cast your ballot for Colonel Adversity (Bryan)?

Is it strange that Republicans should be suspicious of Democratic judges of election after what was done by a number of them in 1898? When Democratic judges boast of their rascality is it any wonder Republicans should cry out against the dishonest practices of the machine.

This outlook in the Ninth District is splendid for the election of General Walker. Nothing but an enlarged practice of Rhea methods can prevent the triumphant election of General Walker. Rhea's hopes are not fixed upon the number of votes that will be cast for him, but the number that can be counted for him by the machine.

THERE was a conspiracy to murder General Walker at Bristol by Rhea's gang. If you doubt this, enquire of the ten honest Democrats from Montgomery county who sat upon the jury that tried General Walker for shooting W. S. Hamilton. Every honest man who heard that trial knows there was a foul conspiracy to kill or do General Walker great bodily harm.

THERE has been no denial of the charge that one of the Democratic judges at Honaker precinct at the election of 1898, recently said, they had stolen votes at that precinct for Rhea and intended to steal them again, and more of them, at the coming election. It is strange that honest men who are Democrats will let such things go unrebuked.

If the Virginia Democracy is honest, why does it keep in force an election law that the whole civilized world points to as infamous? The Goebel election law after being in operation one year in Kentucky has been repealed, as too odious for any free people to submit to. The Goebel law was copied from the infamous Virginia election law.

It is surprising to see Democratic newspapers that pretend to be decent publishing with great gusto what Croker says about Roosevelt. These papers know that Roosevelt is an honest and brave man, a patriot; and that Croker is an unscrupulous political boss, whose honesty has been questioned by every Democratic paper outside of New York.

If Rhea is elected to Congress he will be for putting all the valuable products of this district on the free list; because he stands for Bryan and Bryanism. Mr. Bryan wants all raw material to be put on the free list—lumber, coal, iron, lead, zinc, copper, wool, plaster, in fact nearly everything that is produced or found in the Ninth District and that is adding to our wealth under a protective tariff.
